

Required and recommended elective courses

Ph.D. Program
1.1	1.2	2.1	2.2
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Seminar (A053E002 section A)# ● Applied biostatistics (A053E007)# ● Applied epidemiology (A053E017)# ● Questionnaire design & application of social science research methods (A055E005) ● Spatial epidemiology & applications of Geographic Information Systems(A055E003) ● Special topics in environmental health(I) (3085E121) ● Special topics in health behavior research methods (3085E114) ^ ● Special topics in global public health I (A055E006)^ ● Environmental & occupational epidemiology (A055E004)^ ● Special topics in health policy and behavioral science I (3085E104) ^ 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Seminar (A053E003 section A)# ● Analysis of multivariate data (A055E018) ● Global burden of disease: methods & applications (A053E023) ● Community health (A053E012) ● Special topics in environmental health(II) (3085E119) ● Special topics in global public health II (A055E011)^ ● Special topics in health policy and behavioral science II(3085E105)^ ● Bioaerosols (3085E118)^ ● Indoor air quality (3085E117)^ 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Seminar (A053E004 section A) # ● Individual studies (3085E116)# 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Seminar (A053E005 section A)# ● Special Topics in Public Health Thesis Writing(A055E001)# ● Dissertation (30850021)# ● Consultation of public health practice (A055E015)

required credits (24 credits = 12 course credits + 12 thesis credits)

^ offered on alternating years

Note: A minimum of 12 elective credits is needed to graduate. A maximum of 8 credits from other programs within Taipei Medical University can be included as part of Graduate Program the elective credit requirement.